Property Description

Nestled between two magnificent volcanoes, Celeste Mountain Lodge encompasses 17 acres of prime land, currently thriving as a successful lodge with the exciting potential to transform into a private eco-reserve. This estate offers ten acres preserved as a breathtaking rainforest reserve complete with hiking trails, complemented by five acres of lush, manicured gardens. Located in one of the most biodiverse microclimates in all of Costa Rica, the lodge sits at an elevation of 2,500 feet above sea level, where it enjoys year-round spring-like weather amidst the unique transition zone between rainforests and cloud forests. The extraordinary biodiversity that flourishes here is truly remarkable. Since its inception, over 429 different bird species have been sighted on the property, featuring owner favorites such as three distinct species of toucans, the Bare-Necked Umbrellabird, Gartered Trogon, and the ornate Hawk Eagle along with other stunning avian inhabitants ( <https://ebird>).
